

Cory Huff <coryhuff@gmail.com>

[Insiders] Welcome to the Creative Uprising!

1 message

Melissa Dinwiddie | Living A Creative Life <hello@melissadinwiddie.com>
To: cory <coryhuff+test@gmail.com>

Mon, Feb 13, 2017 at 8:38 PM

Hey Brilliant,

You are now an Insider, so let me officially welcome you to the Creative Uprising!

Before I go any further, here's the link to download your free 5 Reminders poster!

>>Click Here to Download Your Poster<<

Print it out and hang it where you'll see it, to help you get creating, because feeding your creative hungers is one of the fastest routes to happiness and self-fulfillment.

Not only will you feel more alive, it's how you will make the world a better place!

Your world will get better, and when your world gets better, that ripples out.

This is what I mean when I say that by simply doing your creative thing, you are changing the world!

Unfortunately, it took me into my 40s to figure that out...

Just a handful of years ago I was starving my creative spirit, living my life in black, white and grey, even while I was making a living from my art. (Yep, it's true!)

Something had to change.

I started a blog, which I called Living A Creative Life, because I wanted to start — or more accurately, get back to — living a creative life!

I needed some serious creative recovery...

I also knew that I wanted to help other people go from shades of grey to blazing, vibrant, full-color creative lives, too.

I'm happy to say that I'm now living a more full-color life than I ever dreamed possible.

What I discovered on my journey is that making space to regularly connect with my creative spirit changed my life for the better in all sorts of other ways, too.

Creative play turned out to be a portal to a better life in general — a fully joyful, fully open-hearted, full-color life.

Now my goal is to help you through that portal to your own full-color life. My blog, my podcast, my products and programs (and my dispatches to Insiders!) are where I share what I've learned (and what I'm still learning!)

Here's what to expect as an Insider:

As an Insider, you'll get

- Exclusive dispatches (usually once or twice a week)
- Special offers, first dibs and Insider pricing on new stuff
- And of course, the printable poster I promised!

In short, I share with my Insiders all of my best tools, insights, and learnings for living a full-color, creative life. I know this is going to make a big difference for you, just as it does for thousands of others. :)

Here's what to do next:

1. Add me to your list of safe senders, so my emails don't get lost in the ether.
2. Take 2 seconds to join me over on Facebook.
3. Subscribe to my podcast, Live Creative Now!
Click here to subscribe on iTunes | Click here to subscribe on Stitcher Radio
4. Send me a quick reply to let me know the biggest challenge getting in the way of your living the full-color creative life of your wildest dreams.

Now go get creating! Yay!

PS - The next few days are going to feel like you're a bride-to-be at a bridal shower...

...because as an added bonus for joining the Creative Uprising, I'm going to be sending you my "best of the best" articles and audios, to usher you into your full-color life.

Tomorrow you're going to get the first of the "big three."

It's all about why it's essential—NOT self-indulgent—to feed your creative hungers. (Including some reasons based in neuroscience!)

Be on the lookout for an email from me tomorrow... :)

Unsubscribe | 211 Hope Street #1185, Mountain View, CA 94042

